Subject's extra information

The subject Contexts and repertoires of the history of music aims to facilitate a deep knowledge, from a practical and contextualizing perspective, to the theoretical and historical contents treated in the subject History of music. In this sense, a selection of some selected examples of the repertoire that make up the Western musical canon will be made, from the Middle Ages to the present time, and its historical context and the relationships established with other disciplines and manifestations will be extensively discussed. artistic, as its internal, technical and aesthetic configuration, and its fundamental role in the configuration of our cultural identity.

After the presentations of each of the assignments will follow a thorough, rigorous and extensive work, on the context in which they were produced and that enhanced their social dimension and aesthetic significance.

The sessions will be complemented with those of the associated subject History of music, which students must attend compulsory simultaneously to the subject Contexts and repertoires of the history of music. In addition, during the teaching period, various compulsory practical activities will be programmed (attendance at concerts and operatic performances live or retransmissions).

The two subjects, which must be compulsorily taken at the same time, are strongly interrelated, so that the "crossings" of content between both will be constant. History of music aims to provide students with the acquisition of basic information on musical production and consumption throughout history, its periodization and stylistic evolution, as well as correctly locate the big names and musical trends. As for Contexts and repertoires of the history of music, is more practical in nature and intends to work with greater depth in certain contexts and some referential works of the history of music - works of the Western musical "canon" -, analyzing in depth its historical and cultural context, its technical functioning and its aesthetic reach. Thus, while the first is devoted to narrating the historical sequence, the second stops at some fundamental moments of this journey.

Practical observations:

All students must do at least three individual tutorials with the teacher during the development of the course.

It is recommended that students with musical studies of medium or higher grade to arrange an interview with the teacher during the first two weeks of the course. The use of mobile telephonic devices in the classroom during theoretical classes is not allowed.

The use of electronic devices for taking notes during theoretical classes is discouraged.

All the communication between the professor and the students about the subject will be carried out, preferably, through the tool "Messages" of the Virtual Campus, in the subject History of music. It is recommended to check the box "Send a copy to the email address of the recipients".

Information on data protection in the audiovisual register in the subject

In accordance with current regulations on the protection of personal data, we inform you that:

- The organisation responsible for the recording and use of the image and voice is the University of Lleida - UdL (contact details of the representative: General Secretariat. Plaza Víctor Siurana, 1, 25003 Lleida; sg@udl.cat; contact details of the data protection officer: dpd@udl.cat).

- The recorded images and voices shall be used exclusively for teaching purposes.

- The recorded images and voices shall be saved and preserved until the end of the current academic year, and shall be destroyed in accordance with the terms and conditions specified in the regulations on the preservation and disposal of administrative documents of the UdL, and the documentary evaluation tables approved by the Generalitat de Catalunya (<http://www.udl.cat/ca/serveis/arxiu/>).

- The voices and images are considered necessary to teach this subject, and teaching is a right and a duty of the teaching staff of the Universities, which they must exercise under academic freedom, as provided for in article 33.2 of the Organic Law of Universities (Ley Orgánica de Universidades) 6/2001, of December 21. For this reason, the UdL does not need the consent of the students to register their voices and images with the sole and exclusive purpose of teaching in this particular subject.

- The UdL shall not transfer the data to third parties, except in the cases strictly provided for by the Law.

- The student can access their data; request correction, deletion or portability; object to its processing and request its limitation, as long as it is compatible with the purposes of teaching, by writing to dpd@udl.cat. You can also submit a complaint to the Catalan Data Protection Authority, via a mail to its website (<https://seu.apd.cat>) or other non-electronic means.

Methodology

The subject will be articulated using various teaching formats and methodologies: face-to-face activities in the classroom (one weekly session), synchronous and asynchronous distance face-to-face activities (one weekly session) and non-face-to-face activities. Attendance at classroom face-to-face sessions and synchronous distance learning face-to-face activities is mandatory. The face-to-face sessions in the classroom will be basically expository and will consist of a tour of the history of Western music. Remote face-to-face sessions will complement the face-to-face sessions.

This block of face-to-face activities also includes attendance at various practical sessions —mainly concerts of the UdL Music Season—, offered live or online (streaming or deferred). Other practical activities are also planned, such as attending a general rehearsal at the Gran Teatre del Liceu.

The details and precise calendar of the practical sessions (concerts, visits...) will be published before the start of the sessions.

CP2 (Blocks C-D): April 11

CP3 (Blocks E-F): May 22

It is mandatory to do a tutorial immediately after the partial controls.

Assignments and reports

Practical reports (InP1, InP2, InP3, InP4) must be submitted one week after the activity.

The essay must be submitted no later than the date of the third CP3 partial control

Oral presentations

On the first day of the course a calendar will be agreed with all the participants.

Evaluation

Attendance, both in the theoretical classes and in the practical classes, is mandatory and can be controlled randomly.

All the contents dealt with in both types of sessions, both theoretical and practical, will be evaluated. Active participation in the sessions will be valued in a special way.

The evaluation will consist of:

Activity	Qiantity	Percentage
Attendance and participation		15%
Midterm exams	3	30%
Essay	1	30%
Concert reports	4	20%
Oral presentation		5%

1. Attendance and participation

In terms of attendance and participation, preparation and active participation in all activities will be valued, both classroom and distance learning, as well as seminars and practical sessions. It will not be counted from the fourth unjustified absence or if attendance, including theoretical and practical activities, does not reach 80%. Failure to attend all scheduled sessions will result in a final exam.

2. Exams

Three midterm exams, releasing material and not recoverable, distributed throughout the semester on theoretical, historical or stylistic aspects of the general program of the subject. The format of the test will be with multiple choice questions and objective correction. To pass the subject it is essential that the average of the three exams total 5 points.

3. Concert reports

All students must present a critical review of the practical sessions: three concerts and an operatic performance (live or recorded). Extension: \pm 5,000 characters (without spaces).

4. Essay

All students must write a monographic work on any of the aspects covered by the subject from a list of topics proposed by the teacher. Exceptionally, and only if the interests of the student are inclined to a different subject not included there, can treat it with the teacher. Any topic not included in this list must be submitted to the teacher's approval. The topics must be agreed with the teacher during the first five weeks of the course and there will be a personalized follow-up in tutoring. Extension: \pm 30,000 characters (without spaces).

Only the reports presented in PDF format are acceptable and can be delivered through the "Activities" tool of the Virtual Campus.

5. Oral presentation

In addition to the content, the ability to structure the discourse and synthesis, the oral and corporal expression, the graphic presentation and the mastery of the communication tools will be valued.

The evaluation is ongoing. Students who combine their studies with a part-time or full-time job, and who have time compatibility problems with the subject, have the right to request an alternative assessment within 5 days from the beginning of the semester. For more information, send an email to academic@lletres.udl.cat or contact the Secretary of the Faculty of Arts.

If plagiarised material is detected, we will apply what is established in the 'Regulations for the Assessment and Grading of Student Learning in UdL Bachelor's and Master's Degrees'.

Bibliography

The fundamental manual of the course, and consequently of essential consultation, is J. Peter Burkholder; Donald Jay Grout; Claude V. Palisca. Historia de la música occidental (Séptima edición). Madrid: Alianza, 2008.

Through the Virtual Campus of the UdL students will be provided with a series of complementary resources and materials in various formats (audio, text, image ...) corresponding to each of the thematic blocks in which the subject is divided and, in its as an accompanying material for practical activities. After each session, in the Resources section of the Virtual Campus, you will have access, in a timely manner and for a limited time, to all the audiovisual materials worked during the sessions.
