Methodology

Due to the special circumstances that will condition the academic year 2020-21, this subject will be taught as a hybrid course, with a six-hour weekly programme corresponding to one face-to-face session and one virtual period every week. Both face-to-face and virtual sessions will include a variety of formative activities and strategies:

- a. Lectures (15%)
- b. Practical activities and debates (35%)
- c. Reading and analysis of written and oral texts (30%)
- d. Writing of written assignments (20%)

This course is taught in English and the level of language proficiency required is B2.

Development plan

MODULE 1. English language for the ESL Classroom

Week 1: Pre-evaluation test. Grammar and vocabulary revision

Week 2 and week 3.

- English as a global language: teaching English in a global world
- Intercultural competence as Primary Education teachers

Week 4 and week 5. Practising academic writing

- Literary Texts for Future Teachers of English: Focus on Analysis

Week 14:

- Literature and drama for/in the ESL Classroom: Creative Practice

Week 15: TEST 2 and self-assessment practice

Evaluation

The evaluation of the subject will be based on the following items:

TEST 1 (Modules 1 and 2): 30% on December 3rd 2020

TEST 2 (Module 3): 20% on January 14th 2021

Academic Essay (Modules 1 and 2): 20%

Classroom activities: 30% (10% Module 1, 10% Module 2, 10% Module 3)

Re-sit exam: January 28th 2021 at 10.00am

The student should have obtained a pass mark in the two tests in order to get a final mark. Failing one or two of the tests will result in a resit exam, which will include questions related to the three modules of the course.

Any basic mistake in any evaluative activity will entail -0.25 in the mark of that part of the assessment. Moreover, if an evaluation evidence has more than 5 basic mistakes, this will be considered failed.
