Subject's extra information

The program is specially oriented to review the terminology and basic principles of the Spanish syntactic landscape. Although a unique method is followed in sentence analysis, the agenda is not limited to exposing a single perspective of description and analysis, but tries to offer a vision that takes into account the different types of grammars, starting from a point of consistent view that combines the program and allows the approach to the operation of the language without losing sight of its practical application. Consequently, the course proposes, above all, to exercise the critical capacity of the student around the syntactic functioning of the Spanish language and, likewise, to remove him from the prejudices that sometimes involve him when he is ready to work in this field.

Development plan

The course will take place over 15 weeks, through hybrid or mixed teaching: of the total of 3 assigned hours of teaching in the subject per week, 1.5 hours will be conducted in person in the classroom, and the another 1.5h via videoconference.

The first day of class, of presentation of the subject and beginning of the first topic, will be on Monday, September 21, in person.

Teaching will take place on Mondays and Tuesdays of each week, at the hours: 11: 30-13: 00h. Mondays will be in person, (classroom 2.15) and Tuesdays virtually. through the videoconference space of the subject. In both cases, the theoretical exposition will alternate with carrying out practical activities and solving exercises, prioritizing the theoretical aspects in the virtual sessions and the practical aspects in the face-to-face sessions.

In any case, the teacher, depending on the group's response, will adapt the proposals if she deems it appropriate to improve the development of the subject. In the face-to-face sessions on Monday, a space will always be reserved for queries and doubts about practical aspects of the subject.

Whenever the context allows, we will try to ensure that the evaluable activities are developed in the face-to-face sessions.
