Teaching load distribution between lectures and independent student work	The teaching that will be done will be hybrid or mixed. Thus, of the 3 hours that we have assigned to this subject as teaching hours in the classroom, we will only do 1.5 hours. The other 1.5 will be done at the same time as the face-to-face class but in video conferencing synchronously, at least every fortnight. However, the teacher will provide the students with material to work on (recordings and audios of the teacher or other experts, written documents, various links, statements of activities, proposed exercises in the forum ...). While for the most part the teacher will choose to do this session in synchronous video conferencing throughout the semester, or perhaps only on some topics or for some issues, the rest will make up for it with all this material.

Evaluation

The subject will be evaluated through two written partial tests, which will be carried out in the middle and end of the semester respectively, and a final exam, the date of which will be set in a timely manner by the Faculty of Lletres.

The specific agenda of the evaluations will be set in due course.

For the purpose of the final grade, the average of the marks obtained in the partial tests will weigh 50% and the final exam 50%.

Obtaining an average grade of 8 or more points in partial tests will make it possible to release the final exam, which, if the aforementioned condition is met, will be voluntary. If the student receives the possibility of releasing the final exam, the average grade of the partial exams, with 8 or more points, will represent 100% of the final grade.

The final exam must necessarily be passed in order to pass the subject, so that a grade lower than 5 (five) in said exam necessarily implies its repetition in the second call, even if the average of the grade obtained in the final exam with the Average grade of partial tests was greater than 5 (five). Therefore, if a grade below 5 (five) is obtained in the final exam, such grade will not be averaged with any other grade, but will be worth as the final grade for the subject. In case of not having been released from the final exam, the student who does not appear to take it in the first call will appear in the minutes as "not presented".

The average grade of the partial tests retains its validity and its weighting also in case of repetition of the final exam in the second call:

S'avaluarà per continguts i competències.

En concret, hi haurà dos exàmens parcials i avaluació continuada (a base de petites traduccions).

1st exam: at the middle of the semester.

2nd exam: at the end of the semester.
