Learning objectives

Introduce the student in the critical study of various authors and representative works of the Hispanic literary tradition in light of the most recent theories and methodologies devoted to the analysis of discourses on women, gender and sexuality in Iberian and Hispano-American cultures, from the Middle Ages to the present.

Competences

General competences

CG1 Demonstrate capacity for analysis and synthesis.

CG2. Analyze and evaluate a topic or subject, applying a critical and objective reasoning.

CG3 Demonstrate creativity and initiative.

CG4 Properly plan individual and team work and manage time.

CG5 Value the rigor and quality of academic work.

CG7 Demonstrate autonomous learning ability and intellectual maturity.

CG10 Identify and know how to manage the different sources of documentation and information as a basis to enhance the study.

Specific competences

CE9 Know how to use, in a basic way, specific techniques necessary to study and teach linguistic and literary texts from different eras.

CE15 Recognize the creative features associated with Spanish and Latin American literature.

CE16 Know the main texts, authors and literary movements in the Spanish language, as well as its historical evolution and its literary and sociolinguistic context.

CE17 Know the theoretical foundations of literature, the movements of literary history and the currents of literary criticism.

CE18 Know how to interpret and judge literary texts from a critical perspective.

CE19 Know how to identify the relationships between historical and social events and literary production, throughout the different historical periods and cultural settings, especially in the Hispanic world.

CE21 Have knowledge and practical mastery of rhetoric, stylistics and other resources associated with the process of literary creation and the optimization of the objectives of oral and written communication in Spanish.

CE23 Know how to use specific techniques necessary to study and teach literary texts from different eras.

Subject contents

Unit 1.- "Woman" and "gender": theories and methodologies.

Unit 2.- The genealogy of Hispanic women writers prior to the 20th century.

Topic 3.- Literary studies on gender and sexuality.

Topic 4.- Women as the subject and object of literary creation in the 20th century.

Methodology

In accordance with objectives, competences and contents, different types of methodologies will be combined based on each session and subject (master classes, seminars or debates, for example). Thus, the combination of theoretical and practical sessions is considered essential. For this reason, the student will have read previously the literary documents planned for each session and will be asked for the oral presentation of aspects related to the content. Likewise, he will develop written papers in order to deepen in the subject and to consolidate his learning process. The student counts on individualized and in group tutorials to clarify theoretical and methodological axes.

Teaching methodologies: Theoretical-practical teaching. Practical activities in small groups. Conferences and colloquiums attendance. Classroom discussions. Problem-based learning. Individual tutorials to facilitate the acquisition of the necessary skills in the subject. Independent study work. Work with synchronized accompaniment with the professor.

This teaching guide will be expanded with more technical details in a document (entitled "Program") in the "Resources" section of the virtual campus.

Development plan

Unit 1.- "Woman" and "gender": theories and methodologies (weeks 1-3: from February 18 to March 5, 2021).

Unit 2.- The genealogy of Hispanic women writers prior to the 20th century (weeks 4-7: from March 11 to April 9, 2021).

Topic 3.- Literary studies on gender and sexuality (weeks 8-11: from April 15 to May 7, 2021).

Topic 4.- Women as the subject and object of literary creation in the 20th century (weeks 12-15: from May 13 to June 4, 2021).

This plan can be modified according to student's needs.

Evaluation

Continuous Evaluation:

- 1.- The first test will consist of the audio + video recording of a poem by a Latin American author for "World Poetry Day" {10% of the final grade}. Date: March 12.
- 2.- The second test will consist of a work of literary creation. Presentation of a short story with a free theme, starring a woman. Length: 6-8 pages {20% of the final grade}. Date: March 26.
- 3.- The third test will consist of a critical synthesis of the "III International Congress on Gender and Sexuality in Hispanic Cultures" (UdL, April 12-16). Length: 6-8 pages {20% of the final grade}. Date: April 23.
- 4.- The fourth test will consist of an oral presentation (individual or in teams of 2 people) on the cinematographic adaptations of Spanish or Latin American plays / novels and their treatment of women, gender and / or sexuality. {20% of the final grade}. Exhibition date: sessions of May 13-14.
- 5.- The fifth test will consist of sending a "portfolio" containing both the expanded analysis of literary texts discussed throughout the course, as well as those other materials that the student has prepared in a complementary way. Free extension {20% of the final grade}. Delivery date (scanned attachment in pdf format): before June 7.
- 6.- The preparation of the readings and the active participation in the activities represent 10% of the final grade.

Word format of the exercises: font type "Garamond" or "Arial", line spacing "1,5", size "12".

The presence of spelling, punctuation, morphological and / or writing errors will always be taken into account when evaluating the course and may negatively affect the partial and final grades. In courses of a Philology degree it is essential to use the language (oral and written) with correctness and rigor.

Any work that contains any degree of plagiarism or copying (according to UdL anti-plagiarism regulations) will also be automatically suspended.

Evaluation systems: Written tests in the classroom. Original autonomous written works, prepared outside the classroom, individual. Resolution of practical cases in the classroom, individual and / or group. Oral presentations.

Students who only submit a total of activities weighing less than 50% of the evaluation will obtain a grade of NP as a final grade. Students who submit activities with a weight greater than 50% will never be able to obtain an NP.

The date for the evaluable activities will be established at the beginning of the semester. Activities submitted after the deadline will earn a 0/10.

Alternative Evaluation:

Students who combine their degree with a full time job have the right to ask for alternative assessment. For information, please send an e-mail to academic@lletres.udl.cat or ask for information at the Faculty's secretary (Secretaria de la Facultat de Lletres). To validate the skills and knowledge detailed in this guide, students must present a set of written activities on the last day of class, and take an exam, none of which will have a grade higher than 25%.

According to art. 3.1 of the UdL assessment regulations, the student may not use, in any case, during the performance of the assessment tests, unauthorized means or fraudulent mechanisms. The student who uses any fraudulent means related to the test and / or carries unauthorized electronic devices, will have to abandon the examination or the test, or will be subject to the consequences foreseen in these regulations or in any other internal regulations. of the UdL.
